Chicago was thrown into a state of intense excitement by the assassination of the mayor Carter Harrison, on Saturday by a crank named Prendergast who had been disappointed in securing a civic job. Prendergast entered Harrison's house at 8 p.m. As the mayor advanced to meet him he fired four bullets into his body. Harrison fell heavily to the floor and died in 20 minutes. The assassin escaped, but afterwards gave himself up to the police. The mayor was to have been married in two weeks. The murder has thrown a damper over the closing festivities of the world's fair to-day.

The upper ferry was running to-day. The lower ferry has not been running since Thursday night.

The meeting of the directors of the Edmonton agricultural society advertised for Saturday last did not take place.

A RAIN-BOW Social will be given by the King's Daughters on Wednesday Nov. 8. A number of selections will be given by our best local talent. A full programme will appear later.

MESSRS. Lindow & Grindley returned from the east on Thursday's train and proceeded to Fort Saskatchewan to open business. Their store building is nearly completed. Mr. Grindley is accompanied by his wife and children.

ALPHONSE Verecken of St. Albert left for Belguim on Friday's train. Mr. Verecken is well pleased with the Edmonton district having been engaged in farming during the past summer and considers it particularly well suited for Belgian immigrants. He will return in the spring and expects to bring a number of his fellow countrymen back with him.

The ferries did not run on Friday owing to ice floating in the river. On Saturday about noon the ice had nearly ceased running and the attempt was made to start both ferries. The upper one was cleared from the ice which had formed along the shore and was started to work about three o'clock in the afternoon. The lower ferry was cleared from ice which had formed in the eddy at the landing on the north side, but as soon as the snow reached clear water the ice closed in behind it. The snow was then drawn back to shore by horses and pulled up on the bank.

The Macleod Gazette says that there is a market for Edmonton onions in that town.

The Calgary Weekly Tribune has changed its form to four pages of seven columns each. Stock to the amount of $2,500 has been subscribed at Lacombe, Alberta for the purpose of starting a creamery there.

E. M. HUBBELL, D. L. S. arrived on Thursday from Sturgeon river east, where he has been re-staking old township surveys.

J. LITTLE of Little & Maloney, makers of Edmonton pressed brick, returned from Calgary on Thursday's train and will now reside at Edmonton.

M. KINNON has sold 113 sheep of the Oxford Down and Shropshire varieties to W. Cust of St. Albert. These sheep are from Durham, Ontario.

O. N. LAYALLE and James Murphy of Glencoe, Minnesota and A. Frankfield of Minneapolis arrived on Thursday's train to prospect for land in the Edmonton district.

Mr. Lavalley visited Edmonton during the past summer as a member of the party conducted by T. G. Pearce of Agrioola, and has returned to make another inspection. Mr. Frankfield is a hardware merchant.

The Messrs. Pearce commenced boring for oil on Thursday on section 30, township 50, range 25, the oil discovery at Big Egg lake. They put a ten inch bore down 60 feet the first day and will drill to 1,000 feet if necessary to strike oil. This is on the petroleum claim held by Messrs. E. Lyons, W. Macdonald, N. Letrache and G. Jacquin. A small dwelling 10x18 has been erected on the claim, which will be occupied by the Messrs. Pearce and a stable will also be erected. A derrick will not be necessary until 500 feet is reached as the drill is worked to that depth from a 40 foot mast.

Messrs. Roberts and Davis of the party of English delegates conducted by E. P. Leacock have returned to the old country. Mr. Roberts said to the Montreal Star reporter: "I was very much interested in the Edmonton district. I consider that is the district best adapted for immigrants, especially those with a small capital. In my opinion nothing can stop the Northwest from being a great wheat-growing country. There is no doubt that it has some of the best soil in the world. In the Edmonton district there were some of the best crops of barley and oats I have seen anywhere, and the color of the barley was particularly noticeable. The best wheat crops I saw around the Edmonton district."

GORDON & IRONSIDE, cattle dealers of Southern Manitoba, have been purchasing fat cattle on the ranges of Southern Alberta and in the Battleford district for shipment to England. They have not visited Edmonton, although there are plenty of fat cattle here. The reason is that it takes more to buy beef in this district than in other sections of the Northwest and the reason of that is that Edmonton farmers can do better by holding their cattle until spring, when they can get the top price for them at Vancouver and Victoria. The reason the farmers in other parts of the Territories cannot do this is because they have not equal facilities for turning out fat cattle in the early spring. Edmonton is right there in the cattle business.

The survey work of the season is drawing to a close. Messrs. Chalmers, Martin, Rainboth, Damais, Foster, Wheeler, Magrath and Bongaunt have completed their contracts, all in Northern Alberta, and most of them in the country east of Beaver lake. This country is a choice section of the Northwest and will give plenty of room on surveyed lands for all possible immigration of next season. The country is more open than at Edmonton and yet has sufficient wood and water for all present purposes. The soil is uniformly excellent. About fifty townships are now surveyed in that region. Besides the new contracts Messrs. Hubbell east of Edmonton, Mr. Gosselin west of Edmonton and Mr. Greene east of Wetaskiwin have restaked a number of townships which were first surveyed about ten years ago and in which the posts have rotted down and the lines grown up so as to be very difficult to follow. There are six contract surveyors still in the field.

D. L. CLINK, Indian agent at Battle river, was in town on Saturday, accompanied by Mrs. Clink. Matters are progressing smoothly and satisfactorily on the Battle river reserves. Crops are good and are harvested and threshing is in progress. The crops of the Indians on these reserves are so large and good this season that the bands will not require government rations after November 1st. A requisition was made by the agent early in the fall for 200 sacks of flour for the benefit of those who could not work and had no crop. But even that is now considered unnecessary. These reserves are probably the first in the Northwest to be placed on a self supporting basis. Of equal importance to the crop is the establishment of a water mill on Battle river to grind the grain grown on the reserves. During the past season the Indians under the superintendence of the agent, have dug a ditch a mile and half long leading the water from the river to a point where a head of 20 feet is secured. A mill with one run of stones has been built to utilize the water power and is now at work.

Last year an attempt was made to secure a head by a dam on the river, but owing to the nature of the soil the dam was not a success. Instead of giving up the attempt, the present plan was tried this season with full success. This mill is close to the agency and will be of great assistance to the settlers in the Battle river district as well as to the Indians on the reserves.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, OCTOBER 30TH, 1893.

MORE FREIGHT RATES.

The letter from Robert Kerr, general freight agent of the C. P. R. which was published in the Calgary Tribune and is reproduced in full in these columns is worthy of more than passing notice both on account of the importance of the matter upon which it touches and of the position held by the writer, besides the actual statements which it contains. In the first place Mr. Kerr asserts that the articles appearing in the BULLETIN were evidently written under a wrong impression. This may be true, for as was remarked, only by practical operation can accurate knowledge of freight rates be obtained. But if the BULLETIN made misstatements, a full and correct statement of the actual rates from Mr. Kerr would be far more to the point than a simple denial of the correctness of figures which were taken from rate sheets issued by the company for the information of shippers. In the next place the BULLETIN did not lay particular stress on the fact that grain was carried from Edmonton to Fort William at a rate of 33 cents per hundred pounds. On the contrary the BULLETIN expressly placed at one side the argument that might be made from that fact, and which might be other than that so plausibly brought forward by Mr. Kerr—namely the encouragement of the settler at a loss to the railway company. The argument of the BULLETIN was that Edmonton should be given the same mileage rate to its natural market on the Pacific coast as is given Moose Jaw to its port on Thunder Bay, about an equal distance. If this is not a perfectly fair proposition based on strict business, and in the interest both of the country and the company, it will be in order for Mr. Kerr to show wherein it is not. Indeed is not this Mr. Kerr's own offer when he says: "in finding local markets at comparatively short distances from the producing points, producers should be willing to pay the same rates as other districts pay to reach a given point." The only argument that can be brought forward against giving Edmonton the same rate to the coast as Moose Jaw is given to Thunder Bay is the cost of carriage across the mountains. Admitting that extra cost, we will admit that we should pay as much more in proportion as through freight from Montreal to Vancouver pays per mile over what freight from Montreal to Calgary pays per mile—if Mr. Kerr cares to figure it in that way. In the third place the BULLETIN did not ask that purely local rates should be on the same basis per mile as through rates, but it did ask that where the development of a whole country depended on reaching its nearest market at an ordinary export rate, that the railway company should not insist on levying a prohibitive tariff under the plea that it was merely a matter of local rate. It is, as far as the railway is concerned, just as important to the rapid development of the Edmonton district that its products should reach Vancouver at a reasonable rate as it is to the Moose Jaw district that its products should reach Thunder Bay. If the railway company choose to levy a prohibitive rate at this end of the line they simply retard the development of the country to that extent. The BULLETIN does not ask for charity or encouragement to the farmers of this district at the hands of the C. P. R. That monument to the taxpayer power and generosity of the people of Canada is not in a position to make a business of philanthropy, nor do the farmers of this district need such assistance. The company does not lose money in carrying the produce of the country between Moose Jaw and Winnipeg to Thunder Bay at the rates charged there. If there is any part of the railway system that pays it is that part, and if there is any season of the year during which it pays it is the season when the produce is being hauled out at the current rates. What is a paying rate there should be a paying rate here, and on the other hand what would be a prohibitive rate there is almost a prohibitive rate here. How much farming would be done between Thunder Bay and Moose Jaw if the export rates were as high as they are between Edmonton and Vancouver? It is not a matter of live and let live on the part of the railway company. It is a case in which they must let others live if they would profit themselves. As Mr. Kerr has alluded to the question of local rates, and while the BULLETIN does not and did not ask that purely local rates be made as low as export rates, a word on the matter may not be out of place. Does Mr. Kerr think it fair to charge the same rate on produce to Calgary, 200 miles, that is charged from Moose Jaw to Port Arthur 829 miles? How does he expect that coarse grain and vegetables which are the specialties of this district and which are in good demand in Calgary, can bear such a rate. Be it remembered that this is in car lots. If that rate were given for shipments in less than car lots a good business could be done from Edmonton all summer and fall in fresh vegetables with Southern Alberta and interior British Columbia, but the rate in those quantities runs between 50c and $1.00 per hundred. This is the actual encouragement given the settler, not the rate of 33c to Fort William, which seems to run so strongly in the minds both of Mr. Kerr and Mr. Van Horne. Of course we are all aware that the railway company are masters of the situation, but at the same time it is only right that the public should know just how their power is used, and especially when they put forward so prominently the encouragement they give the settler as justification for the rates they actually levy. It is well that the people should understand that if the company is able to snap its fingers at public opinion and ask of those who complain, "What are you going to do about it?" it is not because the road has been built with the money of the taxpayers and on the credit of the country so much as because it has been the settled policy of the government of the country, instead of encouraging competition, to choke off all opposition lines, and to hold the country as completely as possible at the mercy of this single company. Give us competition, give us the bare possibility of competition, and the question of rates would be settled for us on such a basis as our good money and credit has secured to the northern tier of states in the adjoining country, through the means of this same railway which boldly denies us who paid for it the benefits it freely gives those whom it did not cost a cent.

THE MINISTER'S VISIT.

That the minister of finance was unable to meet a larger number of the citizens of Edmonton and see more of the Edmonton district on the occasion of his recent visit is to be regretted not only from our standpoint but also from his own. This district is the garden of the Territories and this town is the metropolis of the far Northwest, and if Mr. Foster intends to remain in political life he would have saved himself much guessing in the future if he had taken the opportunity of sizing this region up in its present state with a view to its future. However, he came and is gone, and whatever the loss is it has been incurred. At any rate he is entitled to credit for having penetrated this far into the wilds. Holding the most responsible position in the cabinet it must be admitted that his time is limited and that he cannot be expected to talk as freely on matters of public policy as if he were not responsible for giving that policy effect. The tour made by the members of the present administration throughout the country and particularly through the Northwest, where hitherto cabinet ministers have seldom ventured, seems to show a desire to become thoroughly acquainted with the state of the country as it is, and to that extent is to be highly commended. The full value of the investigation depends, however, on the use to which it is intended to put the information that is being obtained. Is it intended to fit the policy to the people and the country or is it merely intended to try to secure arguments in support of the claim that the policy fits the country?

The minister should thoroughly understand that the conditions which prevail at Edmonton are in many important particulars the direct opposite of those prevailing in almost every other part of the Territories, and therefore the rule affecting those places does not work the same way here. This is a big country and the conditions vary accordingly. The chief variation is that Edmonton produces some things which other parts of the Territories need to import, and therefore feel the duty levied upon the importation very strongly. In the case of lumber: The import duty on lumber, and the combines which the imposition of that duty makes possible, if not the heaviest is certainly one of the most iniquitous burdens farmers elsewhere have to bear. As Edmonton manufactures lumber for local supply and might manufacture for sale to other Territorial points, the lumber duty is not taken into account here. Coal is in very much the same position. The cost of bringing coal from the mine to the consumer is felt to be a heavy burden in most places. Here the trouble is not that we cannot get but that we cannot get rid of enough of our coal. In the case of barbed wire the abundance of rail timber prevents it from being such an absolute necessity as it is in the prairie districts. Where stock raising is as important a part of the farming industry as grain raising—as here—the increased cost of harvesting machinery is not of the same extreme importance that it is elsewhere. And besides in the case of barbed wire, farm machinery, binding twine and coal oil, the freight rate is so high as to constitute the tariff swindle a smaller proportion in the total cost to the consumer here than elsewhere in the Territories. In short the fact that this district produces for itself a great deal that other districts have to buy relieves it to that extent from the exactions of the tariff. And it is further relieved by the different system of farming pursued under which the farmer here does not need to draw so heavily on tariff burdened articles to carry on his business as his fellow farmers in the Territories. While this is to his very great advantage it is not an advantage that is due to any part of the government's policy nor does it in any way justify that policy or lighten the unnecessary burdens which it imposes here or on other less favored sections of the Northwest. The great question here is that of railway rates to the Pacific coast. On these, outside the natural resources and advantages of the country, depends its rapid development. If the minister or the government of which he is a member can do anything that will put those rates on a reasonable footing we will all be glad to hear from him; and if he cannot, we can only say that he is powerless to help us in the direction in which we chiefly need help. Unless, indeed, we should compromise for the time being on a combined railway and traffic bridge across the Saskatchewan.

A DELEGATE'S VIEW.

THE CLARENDON,
Winnipeg, October 23, 1893.

Sir: I have received from your district a copy of the issue of your paper of the 16th instant in which you take certain exceptions to the course pursued by us in making our recent inspection of the country and district. Permit me to briefly say on behalf of myself and codelegates that this course was considered by us to be the best in order to attain the object we had in view, namely to arrive by personal inspection at a just and reasonable conclusion of the quality of the lands surrounding your hospitable town, under cultivation, and still open to homesteading entry. By those means we saw those lands and were much pleased with them and I do not think Edmonton will have cause in the future to complain of the impression left on the minds of the members of the delegation by this inspection.

Permit me to add that our route was decided on after a good deal of consideration as to the wisest procedure under the circumstances. I trust you will be good enough to insert this in your next issue in justice to all concerned.

Believe me to be your obedient servant,

J. J. GIBBY,
(Irish Delegate.)

P. S. As there appears to be some misconception on the point I may be permitted to say that the Dominion land agent at Edmonton had no part in defining the movements of the delegation while in the Edmonton district.

EDMONTON FREIGHT RATES.

The following letter appears in last issue of the Calgary Tribune under the above heading:

Sir,—Adverting to the several articles which recently appeared in the Edmonton BULLETIN concerning rates on farm products from the Edmonton district, these articles were evidently written under a wrong impression as to what our rates really were, and I have not yet been able to find the source from which the BULLETIN obtained its figures; however, it is not my desire or intention to reopen the subject, but simply to say that as so much stress has been laid on the fact of our carrying wheat from Edmonton to Fort William for $6.60 per ton, the distance being 1,400 miles, such a rate is actually below cost to the railway company, and was put in force with a view to encouraging the settler, as the outside markets of the world govern the price of Edmonton products just as they do any other section of the country, and our management was and is willing to carry this grain below cost, when the settler enters into competition in the eastern or export markets.

This was the idea that governed in establishing the rates to the east, but the question of local markets, including the Pacific coast, was not considered in this connection, as we certainly cannot afford, and should not be expected, to carry a short haul local traffic at anything like the same basis of rate.

When the rate of 33 cents per hundred from Edmonton to Fort William was put into effect, it was done with the full knowledge that it was below cost, but in finding local markets at comparatively short distances from the producing point, producers should be willing to pay the same rates as other districts pay to reach a given point. As a result of our consideration of the matter we have reduced our maximum rates to the coast on eighth class down to 50 and 45 cents as per our special tariff 241, and on local shipments eastward to points on our main line and branches a very material reduction has been made, as per my circular F number 716; and locally to stations on the Edmonton and McLeod branches, the reduction is equal to about 20 per cent you will notice has been effected.

Yours truly,

ROBT. KERR,
General Freight Agent.

Winnipeg, October 16, 1893.

Dalton McCarthy at Listowell said: You have to raise this $30,000,000, and assuming that $30,000,000 is the proper sum to raise for taxes, how much more have you to pay that does not reach the treasury at all? How much more have you to pay that never goes to your credit in the public treasury, but finds its way into the pockets of the manufacturers? I know from my inquiries that the manufactured goods that you buy that are manufactured in Canada are costing you either in quality or price from 25 per cent to 30 per cent more than the same articles could be bought for if there was no protection. That means that you are paying $25 to $30 out of every $100 more than you would pay otherwise if there were no protection. And what is the benefit to the farmer?—the home market. It is illusion. On the other hand, take the cotton goods manufacturer, the agricultural implement manufacturer, the woolen manufacturer—if our tariff permits them to charge 25 or 30 per cent more than they would otherwise it is only human nature that they will do it.

While you pay $30,000,000 to the treasury, which goes to pay interest on the public debt and to carry on the government of the country, for every $1 that goes into the treasury you pay $2 that goes into the pockets of the manufacturers. It makes them richer to that extent and you poorer, and that is the benefit you derive.

Lethbridge News: On Saturday evening last a man named Jas. Gill and a companion while on a spree went down to the Indian camp near the bridge and after having some dealings with the Indians offered one of them named Eagle Arrow a drink of whiskey from a flask. As there had been quite a number of Indians drunk since treaty payments the scouts in the pay of the police had orders to arrest any one offering them liquor, and this Eagle Arrow attempted to do, when Gill drew his knife and stabbed him, inflicting two wounds—one in the face about one and a half inches in length, and another on the shoulder. The Indians however hung on to their man and after binding him placed him in a tepee with a guard over him and proceeded to notify the police. In the meantime Gill's companion proceeded to the police also for the purpose of laying a complaint against the Indians for assault, but the Indians had arrived before him and had stated their case, so he was promptly arrested. A team was sent to the camp and Gill and Eagle Arrow brought up, the former to the guardroom and the latter to the hospital. Dr. McBurn was called and put several stitches in Eagle Arrow's face. The two men were up before Supt. Deane on Monday when Gill was committed for trial and his companion Thorburn, who it appears had nothing to do with the stabbing, was fined for common assault.

Sir Oliver Mowat at a Queenston Heights celebration held recently concluded an eloquent speech on Canadian nationality as follows: "We all want Canadians of every class and condition to have the highest character everywhere for efficiency in their work, whatever that work may be; and for probity and reliability as well as efficiency. We want Canadians to be especially noted as being an educated, a law-abiding, a temperance-practicing and in all respects a well-conducted and honorable kind of people. Every one of us can do something in this direction in our own person, and something directly and indirectly in influencing others to this great end."

Winnipeg Tribune: The issue of new C. P. R. stock to the extent of nearly $10,000,000 is said to be a success. If this is a genuine investment of fresh capital, and results in a corresponding increase in the earning power of the road, no one can object. But if it is wholly or in part a watering of the stock it means higher charges than would otherwise be necessary to raise dividends.

SCHOOL CONCERT.

The concert in aid of the public school library held in Robertson hall on Friday evening last was a huge success in point of attendance, the hall being filled to its utmost capacity by the sisters, the cousins and the aunts and the proud parents and mothers of the numerous performers. Mayor McCauley was called to the chair at 8 o'clock and made a short address. The following was the programme:

The concert was thoroughly enjoyed by both audience and performers and reflected great credit on the teachers of the school to whose care and training the success of the pupils was so very greatly due. The organ accompaniments were played by Miss Phillips and Miss Mason. The sum realized for the benefit of the library clear of expenses was about $45.

Medicine Hat Times: The proposed changes in the through time card of the C. P. R. have been about decided on, and will be made public in about a week's time. The change will probably be made on the first Sunday after November 1st. The train from the west will arrive in Medicine Hat at 9:15 in the morning and the one from the east at 2:45 in the afternoon.

Medicine Hat Times: The Northwest cattle company have just finished shipping the last lot of cattle for Gordon & Ironsides. Two train loads were made up at Strathmore on Sunday night, the last train of 15 cars being loaded by the blaze of a pile of old ties, in 45 minutes. This completes the 8,000 head, which took about 30 train loads.
